Opportunity to Shape the Future of the One Court of Justice Website

We've been contacted by Nikita Rochiramani, a UX Research Specialist with the Michigan Supreme Court, who is conducting a research study aimed at improving the case search experience on the One Court of Justice website.

The goal is to ensure that legal professionals can efficiently access the information they need. The research seeks to better understand what information attorneys and legal professionals typically look for on the website, how they use that information, and what improvements they would like to see.

If you're interested in participating or would like to learn more, please reach out to Nikita directly at rochiramanin@courts.mi.gov. Your insights will play a valuable role in shaping a more effective and user-friendly experience for the legal community across the Great Lakes State.

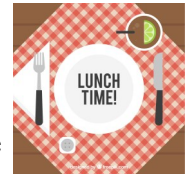

Thank you for considering this opportunity.
